Toyzour

biography

If you took the message of Kendrick & KRS One, The unapologetic Vulgarness of Tyler The Creator and Redman, and the raw energy of DMX and Waka Flocka, then you would get Joose. He's a lyrical ball of energetic consciousness and rage.

If you've been missing that skillful, shamelessly abrasive mix of societal consciousness and unapologetic ignorance in your daily rap, search no more and praise the lord – Jooselord that is.

An eccentric emcee who originally hails from Harlem, New York, Jooselord has developed notoriety through a touring schedule in North Carolina that would translate in the “real world” to a 60-hour work week.

Today, Jooselord is a 2-time Carolina Music Award winner (2017 Best New Artist/ 2018 Best Hip-Male) and has performed at renowned festivals, including, Hopscotch, and A3C is now an internationally-traveling performer.

Jooselord also has three running annual charity events geared towards the homeless and underprivileged children. His rough image makes his philanthropy unexpected – a visual paradox he plans to continue long into his career.

His highly-anticipated double-disc debut album, “S.K.U.L.L.,” was released in April 2018.
